

Families need Safety and Security!!

Offline or Online.

The biggest fear of people in becoming parts of online groups is about their safety. We have seen how people are stalked and trolled online by total strangers. There are instances of fake accounts sending friend requests or following, and then misuse their access. Seriously, at times, social media is very anti-social!!

Is there a place where we can connect only with our families, with no access to any strangers? Some place, where we can share all information about ourselves and our families, without the fear of it being accessible to any Tom, Dick and Harry!!

Yes!! There is – Welcome to MeMyFolks.

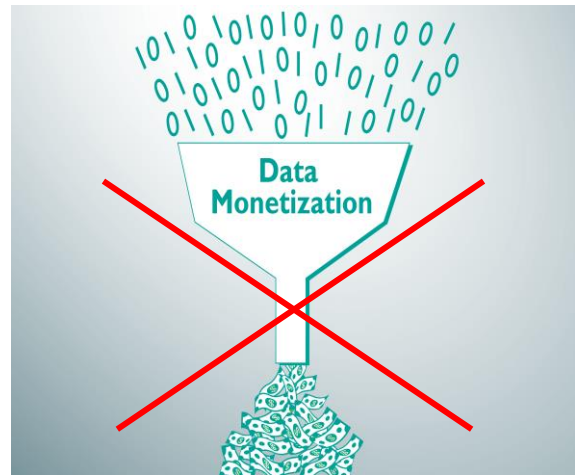

MeMyFolks, is a digital solution to build your own family network – a platform, exclusively for yours and your extended family. It is a place where you can connect with your family members across the world. You can share images and videos, comment on the posts, catch up with the latest developments and happenings in the family etc., in a secure environment.

Unlike social media platforms where anyone can connect with you, at MeMyFolks, every person you add has to be a family member and must be related to you in some way or the other. This completely rules out any stranger getting access to your network. This is its biggest advantage.

Since MeMyFolks is meant as an exclusive family media, all members in your family network must be a relative. Without specifying the nature of relationship, no one can add new members. Therefore, whatever information you share in the group, be it a story about your parents, grand parents or some media like images, videos or voice notes etc., can only be seen by your extended family members. They cannot be downloaded, or shared outside the group without your consent. So, all interaction is confined to the members of the family group, thus enhancing the safety of your posts.

We collect very minimal information, only with a view to serve you, and provide you a better experience. Most of the permissions are consent based, so you have control over the information that can be accessed.

As a conscientious platform, we have voluntarily decided to refrain from monetising your data. We are totally committed to maintaining the safety, security and sanctity of any data which is shared on the platform. Please be assured that, we don't sell your data or misuse it in any way.

Go ahead, connect and bond with your family members on MeMyFolks, without a worry. It is your secure family space online.
